Newsletter #1

Social Media TestDrive's New Updates

Webinar Videos

We recently uploaded webinar videos to serve as informational resources for educators and parents. We hope that these videos can help you better understand how to use TestDrive and how it can be implemented in classes and student groups as an educational tool to teach digital citizenship skills and prosocial behaviors.

Click here for more >>>

Privacy Policy

Our team is always looking for ways to improve Social Media TestDrive. In order to enhance user experience, TestDrive users now have the option to share their anonymous activity data on TestDrive modules to help us identify room for improvement and inform our design of new features on TestDrive. For more information on how user data will be collected and protected, please refer to our new privacy policy.
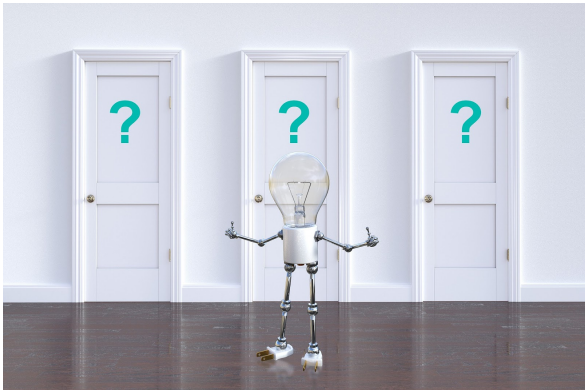

Click here for more >>>

Research Opportunities

We are so happy that you are using TestDrive, and we want to learn more about you! We've set up this survey to learn more about how you've been using TestDrive and to gather any of your suggestions. Plus, we'll notify you of any future research opportunities you can become involved in that can help us further improve TestDrive.

Click here to take the survey

Featured FAQ

Q: Can I use Social Media TestDrive to discuss cyberbullying with my middle schoolers?

A: Yes! You can use the "How to Be an Upstander" module in the Social Media TestDrive platform to facilitate conversations about bullying, their target, and what we can do when we see it happening.

We would love to hear from you. Please send us your questions at socialmediatestdrive@gmail.com